Process for Player Evaluation:

The skills to be evaluated include defense, ball handling, shooting, court movement, passing, rebounding, conditioning and teamwork. Each coach's evaluation will have equal weight, and all coaches will determine which athletes will play on each team. Each year the players will have to prove themselves. It is the desire of the coaches to place each athlete on the team where they will experience the most growth and success according to their ability and skill level during the season.
